Book Week 2013
At Little Grove Primary School
2 September to 6 September

Read Across the Universe

Book Week is a time to celebrate outstanding books for children. Each year, the Children’s Book Council chooses the best books in different categories. The aim is to help children reconnect with the delightful possibilities of BOOKS!

The official 2013 Book Week is held 17 August to 23 August, however this year Little Grove Primary School has chosen to celebrate book week during week 7 to coincide with our Learning Journey Open Night.

We will be holding fun activities throughout the week and a Book Fair will be held in the Library on Open Night Wednesday 4 September for everyone to enjoy.

Annual Book Week competitions will be held with the entries on display in the Library on open night. We encourage students to join in the fun by reading and being creative. The week will conclude with the Book Week Parade on Friday morning – where staff and students can show off their Book Character Costumes.

Dress Up as your Favourite Book Character
Join in the fun

Staff and students are invited to dress up as their favourite book character on Friday 6 September.
There will be a Book Week Parade held at the assembly at 9.00am for everyone —
Parents and families are most welcome to attend.

Scholastic Book Fair
‘Story Laboratory’ - Reading Gives You Super Powers

Wednesday 4 September  2.30pm - 6.30pm

Books will be on Display in the School Library from Monday 2 September for students and parents to view prior to the Book Fair.
All purchases made at the book fair benefit our school. The books are very well priced, with books ranging upwards from just $3 and are a great way for children to try new books or for you to purchase as Christmas gifts.
Please visit the Library with your child on Open Night or send in your order during Book Week on the form provided with your payment.
